FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Carolyn Elefant Joins Cleantech Law Partners as Director of FERC Practice Group

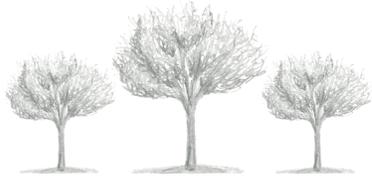

San Francisco, (February 22, 2016) Cleantech Law Partners (www.cleantechlaw.com) announces today that leading energy attorney Carolyn Elefant has joined the firm as the Director of the FERC Practice Group.

Cleantech Law Partners, a full-service law firm dedicated exclusively to the legal and policy needs of the renewable energy industry, is proud to be able to bring on yet another top-notch attorney who specializes in FERC issues affecting the clean technology and renewable energy industries.

Carolyn a veteran energy law attorney with more than 25 years of experience in advising on energy and utility transactional matters, and participating in and litigating energy cases before the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), state commissions and trial and appeals courts throughout the country. Prior to founding her own firm in 1993 Carolyn worked as an attorney-advisor at FERC and as an attorney at several national energy practices in Washington D.C.

Carolyn is highly regarded by industry peers, and was named an Energy & Natural Resources SuperLawyer in DC from 2012 onward – an accolade awarded to the top five percent of practitioners in a field. She is also quoted frequently in industry publications such as Platts as well as national media such as The New York Times, Boston Globe and others. Carolyn has testified on energy legislation before Congressional committees and advised staffers, served as an expert witness in gas siting cases and speaks and writes on a variety of energy topics.

Her specific competencies include all FERC electric regulatory matters including market-based rate applications, merger proceedings, generation interconnection agreements (state and federal) and net-metering, PURPA, issues related to participation in RTO/ISO markets and general familiarity with NERC.
